Dear James

As the chair of the 'Committee on Health' which is part of the United Nations Information and Communications Taskforce (ICT) Working Group for Human Development and Capacity Building; the World Health Organization welcomes contributions that members, including ResourceLinC and other international organizations, are providing in developing successful ICT based solutions for health care.

As you are aware, WHO has a program, the Health InterNetwork, which provides qualified institutions with free access (or at a greatly reduced rate) to health care periodicals, publications, research papers etc. thereby making the information accessible to a greater number of institutions in countries which could not normally afford the subscription rates.

I understand that you are working with the Zambia Defense Force Medical Services (ZDFMS) on a HIV/AIDS education project. As health institutions including the ZDFMS in Zambia are eligible to participate in our program, we offer to assist the Medical Service to register on-line, either directly or with your support.

Please provide the Director General of ZDFMS with the attached brochure. I look forward to continued support and assistance from ResourceLinC towards a successful UN ICT Taskforce.

Yours sincerely

Dr Michael Scholtz
Special Representative of the Director-General
